Electric Car Charging Parking Spot

The Central Library parking ramp includes a stall reserved for electric car charging, located across from the elevator lobby on level P1 and is currently available free of charge.

The charger is from ChargePoint, a network that includes an interactive map to locate available charging stations across the country. Electric car owners can use their own cord or the cord supplied at the library's station. Users gain access to the station with an access card from the organization, a smart (contact-free) credit card, or by calling the number displayed on the unit.
