

Tier One: Introduction to Military Culture, Families and Deployment

April 9, 2025

Athens, WV

Description:

This training is the first of the three tiers that sets the foundation for becoming a Star Provider and serving military-connected clients through the Star Behavioral Health Providers (SBHP) directory. The day-long training introduces participants to military culture, including the basics of its history, organizational structure, core values, branches of service, mission, and operations, as well as the differences between the active and reserve components. Additionally, considerations for working with military-connected families will be discussed such as identifying unique experiences of military couples, spouses and children, and normative military family life stressors that may inform the experiences and clinical presentation of military-connected clients. The training concludes with an overview of the impact of deployment on service members and families. The unique experiences and psychosocial impact that service members and families face across the deployment cycle are explored as well as ways to support military-connected individuals during each stage of deployment. Tier One highlights the need for engaging with military cultural humility, with an emphasis on educating providers about the factors that may impact mental health practice with military-connected clients. The information and contents of this training have consistent and credible empirical support as documented in the scientific literature (Heward et al., 2024; Blue Star Families, 2024; Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Military Community and Family Policy, 2023; Maury et al., 2022; Briggs et al., 2020).

Total CE Credits: 6.00

Total Contact Hours: 6.00

Learning Objectives:

Following the training, attendees will be able to:

1. Evaluate the structure and major components of the United States military
2. Analyze common characteristics of the military population and how they compare to the general population.
3. Appraise elements of the military experience and lifestyle that are integral to military culture
4. Analyze how the unique demands of military service differentiate military families from their civilian counterparts.
5. Evaluate the impact of normative military stressors on military families
6. Evaluate the impact of separation and deployment stressors experienced throughout the deployment cycle on service members and military families.

7. Analyze challenges that service members face in achieving successful post-deployment reintegration.

Target Audience: For behavioral health providers who treat military personnel, veterans, and their families.

Instructor Biographies:

Brian Ludden, Ed.D., LMHC, LPC, is a Military Behavioral Health Counselor at the Center for Deployment Psychology (CDP) within the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences in Bethesda, Maryland. In this role, he supports the implementation and expansion of the Star Behavioral Health Providers Program (SBHP), which trains civilian behavioral health providers to effectively support service members, veterans, and their families. This initiative aims to increase the availability of high-quality behavioral health services, particularly for those in the National Guard and Reserve.

A veteran of the United States Army, Brian transitioned from military service after a medical discharge in 2009 and dedicated his career to mental health support for the armed forces and their families. While serving as the Military Connected Student Support Specialist with the School District of Clay County under a Department of Defense Education Activities (DoDEA) grant, he facilitated the placement of Military and Family Life Counselors (MFLC) in local schools to support military-connected students.

Brian earned his Master of Clinical Mental Health Counseling from the University of North Florida in 2012, followed by a Doctor of Education in Educational Leadership from the same institution in 2017. His extensive clinical experience encompasses community mental health, substance abuse treatment, school-based therapy, specialized therapeutic foster care, pediatric and family-based treatment, and private practice. He specializes in treating anxiety, PTSD, and grief, with a focus over the past 11 years on providing care to military service members and their families.

Identifying as a Humanist Therapist, Brian is dedicated to creating a therapeutic environment where clients feel seen, heard, and empowered. He believes in the inherent potential within everyone to grow, heal, and find meaning in their lives.

Dr. Miranda Blackburn, LISW-S, LICSW, BCD, is an Associate Professor of Social Work at Concord University. Her experience in corrections, military and veteran populations, clinical mental health, and crisis intervention, along with her role as a Behavioral Health Officer in the Army National Guard, provides a unique perspective on social work. She is clinically licensed in Ohio and West Virginia and holds certifications as a Board-Certified Diplomate in Clinical Social Work and a Psychological Autopsy Investigator. Miranda contributed to the CSWE Specialized Practice Guide for Military Social Work and is a Star Behavioral Health Provider Trainer. She also serves on the board of the WV chapter of the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention and is involved in the WV Governor's Challenge: Preventing Suicide Among Service Members, Veterans, and Their Families.
