

The Deployment Cycle and Its Impact on Service Members and Their Families

Recorded Asynchronous Distance

Description:

This training is designed for civilian behavioral health providers who want to learn about the impact deployments have on all members of a military family. It explores the unique experiences that Service members, spouses, and children face by presenting research findings and reviewing psychosocial stressors associated with each stage of the deployment cycle.

Instructional Format: This course is a pre-recorded webinar that is available on the Center for Deployment Psychology's website. The participant will watch the full recorded video and take an online post-test

Total CE Credits: 1.75

Total Contact Hours: 1.75

Learning Objectives:

Following the training, attendees will be able to:

1. Distinguish between the three phases of the deployment cycle and the events and stressors common to each phase.
2. Assess deployment cycle-related stressors unique to special populations, including the Selected Reserve, female Service members, and military family members.
3. Analyze challenges that Service members face in achieving successful post-deployment reintegration.

Continuing Education:

Course Completion Requirements: Participants are required to watch the full recording, pass the post-test with a 75% or greater score, and complete the post-training evaluation to obtain CE credit. Participants are required to complete the entire training curriculum. Attendance is monitored via the recording's view progress and recorded completion of the post-test. A post-training evaluation form must be completed in order to receive ACE social work CE credits. For other CE credits, completion of the evaluation is strongly encouraged, but if you do not wish to complete the evaluation, please contact the training event's POC after the training event.

There is a 30-day time limit post-registration to complete all CE requirements. CE Credit Certificates will be made available in the learning management system upon completion after all course requirements have been completed.

Participants are given three opportunities to pass the post-test. Credits will not be given if participants cannot pass with a 75% or greater score after three attempts at the post-test.
