Assessing and treating PTSD and sleep problems can be challenging. Evidence-based psychotherapies (EBPs) are the gold standard for addressing these disorders, according to the Department of Defense and the Veteran's Administration. Adopting EBPs requires leadership commitment, effective training, therapy implementation, and protocol adherence.

Consultation and support are now available for Center for Deployment Psychology (CDP) trained behavioral health providers through CDP’s Go for the Gold campaign.

Go for the Gold provides post-training support to promote skills development and implementation of Cognitive Processing Therapy (CPT) and Prolonged Exposure Therapy (PE) for PTSD, and Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT-I) for Insomnia.

Go for the Gold offers:

- Mentoring
- Provider resources
- Exclusive on-line provider portal support
- Phone consultation with subject matter experts to help you:
  - Master EBP practices more quickly
  - Receive feedback on active cases
  - Build confidence in the use of EBP practices

The Center for Deployment Psychology is a tri-service psychology training consortium headquartered at the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences in Bethesda, Maryland. As the nation’s only federal health sciences university, USU is committed to excellence in military medicine and public health during peace and war.
